THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER

O Say! Can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night, that our flag was still there.

O, say, does that Star-Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

ALMA MATER

TO OUR NOBLE ALMA MATER'S NAME
WE, HER CHILDREN, SING A JOYFUL LAY
AND TO HER A NEW ALLEGIANCE PLEDGE, THAT LIVES BEYOND A DAY.

(refrain)

REFRAIN: Sing, O Sing, Our Alma Mater's Praise,
Hail, O Hail, her colors' gleaming hue!
Give to her our homage and our love
And to her name be true.

GRADUATES AND GUESTS: Please remain seated until the platform party and faculty have recessed.

At the conclusion of this program, please proceed to the departmental ceremony you wish to attend. (The location of each department ceremony, and a campus map, can be found at the back of this program). Ceremonies will begin no later than 30 minutes following the conclusion of the Commencement exercises.

Graduates, guests and faculty are requested to join in the singing of the Alma Mater (see inside front cover).

JOHN NAISBITT, Commencement Speaker

John Naisbitt, publisher, columnist and predictor of substantial societal change, is IUP's 1981 commencement speaker.

Naisbitt, a senior vice president with the social research firm of Yankelovich, Skelly and White, is publisher of "The Trend Report." He is co-author, with Susan Dooley, of a weekly syndicated newspaper column, "A Changing America/Trends and Forecasts," which appears in major newspapers throughout the country.

He is recognized as a spellbinding speaker who, in recent addresses, has advanced some startling statistics about today's society and offered insightful predictions about the future.

Naisbitt was, for four years, chairman of the board of the Center for Policy Process in Washington which merged with Yankelovich, Skelly and White in 1979. He was chairman and president of the Urban Research Corporation in Chicago from 1968 to 1975.

Naisbitt served on the White House staff as a special assistant to President Lyndon Johnson and was special assistant to John W. Gardner when Gardner was Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

A veteran of 20 years of business experience, Naisbitt also brings academic expertise to his commencement address. He worked for two years as assistant to then U.S. Commissioner of Education Francis Keppel and also served as assistant to the chairman of the Commission of Presidential Scholars.

His career history also includes employment as an executive with IBM and Eastman Kodak Company. His studies at Harvard, Utah and Cornell were in political science.

Naisbitt served in the U.S. Marine Corps and is the author of "Unfit for Service," a review of the draft and of the history of basic education in the Army and "Right On! A Documentary of Student Protest." His new book, "High Tech/High Touch, the Restructuring of America," is scheduled for publication next year.

Naisbitt is also a director of the CRS Group, the country's leading architecture-engineering firm, a director of the Corporation for Enterprise Development and chairman of the board of Delta Institute in Washington.

DR. WILLIS E. PRATT, Honorary Degree Recipient

Dr. Willis E. Pratt, the man behind IUP's transformation from a small state teacher's college to a large multipurpose university, will be awarded a Doctor of Letters Honoris Causa degree on May 23, 1981.

In his 20 years as IUP's president, from 1948 to 1968, he guided the school's growth in size and stature, from a state teacher's college with an enrollment of fewer than 1,500 to a university teaching more than 9,000 students. During his tenure, IUP opened two branch campuses, initiated a ROTC program, and dramatically expanded curriculum and facilities.

A longtime leader in education, Pratt's career began in 1927 in Albion Borough, Erie County, where he was a teacher and an assistant principal. He moved on to become assistant superintendent and then superintendent of the Erie County Public Schools.

From 1941 until 1943 when he entered the United States Army, Pratt was president of Mansfield State College. As an army major, he served as Civil Affairs and Education Officer in the Mediterranean Theatre and was awarded the bronze star for meritorious service and the medal of Knight Officer of the Crown of Italy for the work he did in democratizing Italian schools.

Following military service, Pratt became chairman of the department of education at The Pennsylvania State University where he remained until 1948 when he came to the then Indiana State Teacher's College as president.

His list of honors is a long one and includes citations from the All-Pennsylvania College Alumni Association in Washington, D.C., the Department of Public Instruction of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the United States Army and the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

Pratt received his A.B. degree from Allegheny College and his M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh. He also completed additional studies at Harvard University and Carnegie Institute of Technology and has received honorary degrees from Bologna University in Italy, Westminster College and the University of Pittsburgh.

Now chancellor emeritus of IUP, Pratt is a father of two, grandfather of seven and great-grandfather of one. He resides with his wife, Margaret, in Indiana.

STEVE R. DOMEN, Honorary Degree Recipient

IUP alumnus Steve R. Domen, a physicist with the National Bureau of Standards (NBS) and an internationally recognized authority on calorimetric absorbed-dose standards for beams of ionizing radiation, will be awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by his alma mater on May 23.

Domen's scientific knowledge and experimental skill have helped to bring the NBS to the forefront of the national standardizing laboratories in the new and important field of absorbed-dose standards for dosimetry of radiation beams. This area of research is of great importance for the measurement of medical radiation beams and the benefits that it will provide to the treatment of cancer patients because of the increased accuracy of the measurements of radiation therapy.

He designed and constructed the two graphite calorimeters that are now the NBS standards of absorbed-dose for gamma radiation. Domen used the initial design to develop an improved calorimeter that is transportable and has used that calorimeter to carry out measurements at the NBS in Washington, D.C., the Stanford Two-Mile Linear Accelerator, the French National Standards Laboratory and the International Bureau of Weights and Measures in Paris.

The recipient of a silver medal, a superior accomplishment group award, and an outstanding performance rating from the NBS, Domen also was presented with the IUP Alumni Citation for Achievement in May 1979.

His expertise has prompted individuals from Holland, Belgium, France, Austria, Hungary, Germany, Iran and South Africa to consult with him.

Domen received a bachelor's degree in education from IUP in 1949. In 1958 he completed a master's degree at the University of Maryland. He has been employed by the NBS since 1950.

Domen has kept up a steady flow of publications concerning his research throughout the course of his career.

A native of Johnstown, Domen currently resides with his wife, Mary, in Derwood, Md. The Domens have two children.

ACADEMIC COSTUME

American academic dress has its origins in the garments worn at medieval British universities, particularly Oxford. That university was founded in the Twelfth Century with its early chancellors being representatives of the bishop. Because of the close connection between the University and the Church, students and faculty wore clerical garb. It is from these medieval cassock-like garments that American academic dress is derived.

The Oxford or "mortarboard" cap came into use during the 16th century, but authorities differ on its origin. Some say that the cap is square like a scholar's books; others that it was derived from the master workman's mortarboard; still others suggest that it was patterned after the quadrangular shape of the Oxford campus. The distinguishing feature of the cap is the color of the tassel, which is black for the holders of the bachelor's and master's degrees and which may be gold for doctor's degrees and the governing officers of educational institutions.

Although caps and gowns had been used in many American schools since Colonial time, it was not until about 1855 that there was a widespread student movement for their use at commencement ceremonies. The faculties were quick to approve this practical and dignified graduation dress, and soon adopted for themselves the custom of wearing gowns at academic ceremonies. By 1895 the Intercollegiate Commission had prepared a code for academic costume which was approved by 95 percent of the American universities and colleges.

The Code provides for three types of gowns. Those worn by the bachelors are black and have long pointed sleeves. Masters may wear either black silk or woolen gowns, made with a long, closed sleeve with an arc appearing near the bottom and a slit for the arm. The doctor's gowns are usually of black silk with full, round, open sleeves. The color of the velvet trim may be black or the same color as the velvet which edges the hood. Although the color is normally black, several institutions have authorized doctoral gowns in their school colors.

In the United States, the hood is the most distinctive feature of academic attire. Used originally as a cowl, as a shoulder cape, and as a container in which to collect alms, it is now worn at the back, suspended near the shoulders. The length of the hood and the width of its velvet border indicate the level of the degree held. The bachelors wear a hood which is three feet long, with a two inch velvet border. The hood for the master's degree is three and one-half feet long, with a three-inch border. The doctor's hood is four feet long and the border is five inches wide. The inner lining of the hood is in the official color or colors of the institution conferring the degree, while the color of the border indicates the field of learning in which the degree was earned.

It may be noted that military uniforms and religious habits are appropriate apparel at academic convocations.

CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES

Asterisks denote graduation with honor as follows:

Summa Cum Laude 3.75 to 4.00 average

Magna Cum Laude 3.50 to 3.74 average

*Cum Laude 3.25 to 3.49 average

August and December graduation honors are final, and are based upon the cumulative grade point average after conclusion of the student's last semester.

May graduation honors are tentative, and are based upon the cumulative grade point average after conclusion of the student's next-to-last semester. Final honors for these graduates will be noted after final cumulative grade point averages have been calculated.

Averages are determined on the basis of the following: 4=A; 3=B; 2=C.

The appearance of a name in this program is not a valid indication of graduation. The diploma of the University and an official transcript, signed and sealed by the proper officers, provide authentic testimony to the conferring of a degree.

IUP

From the 1875 Indiana Normal School to today's multi-purpose University, IUP has enjoyed a history rich in tradition and accomplishment. In its first year, the Normal School enrolled 225 students. Today, the IUP student body includes more than 12,000 students who hail from every county in the Commonwealth, several other states, and more than 40 foreign countries.

Ownership and control of the institution passed to the Commonwealth in 1920. In 1927 the General Assembly approved a change in name and function of the school. As the State Teacher's College at Indiana, it became a four-year college with the right to grant the Bachelor of Science degree in Education.

In 1957 the College was authorized to offer, for the first time, work leading to the Master of Education degree in elementary education. The program was later expanded to include 15 secondary areas as well. This program, which began with an enrollment of 74 in September, 1957, has awarded 5,067 master's degrees and currently enrolls 253 students.

In 1959 the name of the College was changed to Indiana State College and a liberal arts program was developed, graduating its first students in January 1964. Over 3,300 students now major in the areas of humanities, natural sciences, social sciences and mathematics.

In December 1965, Indiana State College was redesignated Indiana University of Pennsylvania (IUP) with the right to grant degrees at the doctoral level and in several additional areas at the master's level.

Nine schools presently comprise the University - Business, Education, Fine Arts, Health Services, Home Economics, Natural Sciences and Mathematics, Social Sciences and Humanities, Graduate Studies, and Continuing and Non-resident Education. Eleven degrees are offered including one associate, four baccalaureates, four master's and two at the doctoral level. Within the 40 departments of the University, students may study any one of 96 majors.

While instruction continues to be the University's primary focus, IUP has combined a sound liberal arts education with effective job preparation. The University's internship program, which provides students with on-the-job training prior to graduation, is one of the most extensive in the country.

IUP has also entered into joint programs with other institutions of higher learning to increase and complement the academic programs of IUP students. These joint programs include one in family medicine with Thomas Jefferson University; two in engineering with Drexel and Pittsburgh Universities; one in art with the Art Institute of Pittsburgh; one in optometry with Pennsylvania College of Optometry; one in podiatry with Pennsylvania School of Podiatry; and one in forestry with Duke University.

Throughout its 106-year history, IUP has flourished as the largest of the 14 state-owned colleges and university. The University looks forward to the challenges of the 1980s with confidence in its tradition of excellence and with dedication to serving the needs of tomorrow's students.
