

COMMENCEMENT

1 9 9 3

Welcome

The IUP community extends a warm welcome to the families and friends of the very distinguished Class of 1993. Over the past several years the class members have worked and studied and are now ready to begin a new chapter in their lives. For some, this will mean a job and the responsibilities of a family. For others, it will mean graduate or professional school. Whatever course their future takes, it is our sincere hope that they will look back on their years here as having prepared them to meet and deal with the challenges that life will present.

In today's ceremony, more than two thousand undergraduate and graduate students are being recognized for their academic achievement. The university joins the graduates' parents, spouses, relatives, and friends in congratulating the men and women of the Class of 1993 on their accomplishments and wishing for them the happiness of a productive life, the respect of their fellow human beings, and the love of their family.

Best of luck and congratulations.

The Star-Spangled Banner

O Say! Can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night, that our flag was still there.

O, say, does that Star-Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Alma Mater

To our noble Alma Mater's name
We, her children, sing a joyful lay
And to her a new allegiance pledge,
That lives beyond a day.

Refrain: Sing, O Sing, Our Alma Mater's praise,
Hail, O Hail, her colors' gleaming hue!
Give to her our homage and our love
And to her name be true.

Honorary Degree Recipient

Professor Paul A. Samuelson

Paul A. Samuelson, a native of northwest Indiana, is among the most distinguished economists of the modern era and the first American scholar to become a Nobel laureate in economics. Dr. Samuelson received his undergraduate education at the University of Chicago and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University. His entire teaching career has been spent at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he is currently institute professor emeritus.

Dr. Samuelson has been the recipient of thirty-two honorary degrees from American and international universities. He is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and Phi Beta Kappa, a fellow of the American Philosophical Society and the British Academy, and past-president of the American Economic Association and the Econometric Society. During his teaching career at MIT, which dates from 1940, he has served as consultant to various private and federal boards and agencies such as the Rand Corporation, Council of Economic Advisors, Federal Reserve Board, and Congressional Budget Office. He has also been an advisor to many American Presidents.

His five books include the near-legendary textbook Economics, which has gone through fifteen editions since 1948, sold more than three million copies in English, and has been published in more than twenty foreign languages. His influence upon students of economics has been immense. He has served as associate editor of four professional journals and as a member of the editorial board of the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences. He has held thirteen distinguished lectureships and has published in numerous professional journals. From 1966 to 1981 he was a Newsweek contributing editor and columnist.

In addition to the Nobel Prize in Economic Science, Dr. Samuelson is the recipient of numerous other awards and honors, including the David A. Wells Prize of Harvard University, the Albert Einstein Commemorative Award, and the John Bates Clark Medal of the American Economics Association. In 1991, MIT established the Paul A. Samuelson Professorship in Economics.

In terms of economic theory, Dr. Samuelson is perhaps the last generalist. His penetrating and brilliant analyses have transformed or significantly added to virtually every major area of economic theory: the economics of well-being, the theory of capital, general economic equilibrium, the allocation of resources, international trade, macroeconomics, the financing of government, business finance, economic linear programming, and the theory of consumer demand. His work on these topics spans fifty-five years and is therefore literally coextensive with modern economics.

What is more, Dr. Samuelson has altered the method of economic studies. More than anyone else, he was responsible for transforming economics from a literary discipline to one which uses a great deal of mathematics. By this effort he replaced the older, largely literary style of thinking of the economy with a precise technique of mathematical modeling which enables a clear specification of assumptions and a clear analysis of their consequences.

Today, incidentally, is Dr. Samuelson's birthday.

Commencement Speaker

United States Senator Harris Wofford

Harris Wofford brings a lifetime of public service to his role as a United States Senator from Pennsylvania. He was a special assistant to President John F. Kennedy, an advisor to Dr. Martin Luther King, a founder of the Peace Corps, and president of both a public and a private college. The author of four books, he has been a leader for more than two decades in the movement to make citizen service the common experience of America's young people.

Before joining the Senate, Senator Wofford served more than four years as Pennsylvania's Secretary of Labor and Industry. His central focus as a member of the state cabinet was creating new jobs and economic opportunity, primarily by building on the historic strengths of the state's work force: its skill, productivity, and dedication.

After serving in the U.S. Army Air Force in the final years of the Second World War, Wofford received a B.A. degree from the University of Chicago in 1948. After graduation, he and his wife, Clare, lived in India and studied Gandhi's successful struggle to bring about Indian independence. The Woffords together wrote a book about their experiences called India Afire. They then lived briefly on a kibbutz in the new state of Israel before returning to Washington, D.C., where Wofford became one of the first nonblacks to attend Howard University Law School. The law school was the intellectual seedbed of efforts by Thurgood Marshall and the NAACP Legal Defense Fund to overturn legal segregation. As a student, Wofford attended Marshall's practice sessions with the Howard Law faculty for the Supreme Court argument in Brown v. Board of Education. He went on to earn degrees from both Howard and Yale University law schools.

Wofford was an early proponent of the Gandhian tactics of nonviolent civil disobedience in the civil rights movement and advised Dr. Martin Luther King from the time of the Montgomery bus boycott in 1955.

After helping to draft and lobbying for the first civil rights act in 1956, Wofford became counsel to the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh on the U.S. Commission of Civil Rights under President Eisenhower. He later became an associate professor of Law at Notre Dame, where Hesburgh was president.

A key aide to Senator John F. Kennedy in his 1960 Presidential campaign, Wofford went on to serve in the Kennedy White House as special assistant to the president and chairman of the Subcabinet Group on Civil Rights. While on the White House staff, Wofford helped Sargent Shriver form the Peace Corps and later served as the corps's special representative to Africa and subsequently as its associate director.

After leaving the Peace Corps in 1966, Wofford became founding president of the State University of New York's College at Old Westbury. From 1970 to 1978 he was president of Bryn Mawr College in Montgomery County, Pennsylvania.

Wofford has been president of the International League for Human Rights, a member of the governing council of the Wilderness Society, and a member of the board of the Public Interest Law Center of Philadelphia. A trustee of the Martin Luther King, Jr., Center for Nonviolent Social Change, he has served as secretary of the Philadelphia Martin Luther King, Jr., Association for Nonviolence.

The author of numerous articles, Wofford has written four books, including Of Kennedys and Kings: Making Sense of the Sixties, recently reissued by the University of Pittsburgh Press. He resides in Bryn Mawr with his wife, Clare. They have three children as well as three grandchildren.

Distinguished Faculty Awards

For Teaching

The mission of IUP is to teach, and it is because of the quality and dedication of the faculty that the university has received national and international acclaim. In appreciation of outstanding teaching ability, IUP presents this award. Past recipients include Mohammed E. Ghobashy, 1978; Irwin Marcus, 1979; Frank Viggiano, Jr., and Mark A. For Research

Research endeavors frequently culminate in the publication of scholarly articles and books which reflect favorably both on the individual faculty member and on the university. It is for these scholarly contributions and for the institutional recognition they invoke that IUP presents this award. Past recipients include Joseph C. Clark, 1978; Vincent Miller, 1979; June K. Phillips, 1980; W. Wayne Smith, 1981; Arthur C. Hulse, 1982; Martin J. Morand, 1983; Donald A. Walker, 1984; Thomas R. Schaub, 1985; Patrick M. Hartwell, 1986; Gopal S. Kulkarni, 1987; Robert J. For Creative Arts

There are many avenues for scholarly or learned expression, and the creative arts provide, perhaps, the most visible of these avenues. Through public performances and exhibitions, IUP faculty members have brought acclaim and recognition to the university as well as to their particular media. It is for this dedication to quality in the arts that the university annually considers candidates for this award. Past recipients include Ned O. Wert, 1978; Thomas J. Dongilla, 1980; Paul Ben-Zvi, 1981; Christopher L. Weiland, 1982; Ronald A. Juliette, 1983; John J. Dropcho, 1984; W. Delight Malitsky, 1986; Christopher L. Weiland, 1987; Donn W. For Community Service

This award recognizes either significant and sustained contributions to the university community or to the community at large. Service may be part of an extension of professional responsibilities which exceed the nominee's nominal job description or may be distinguished service to the local, state, national, or international community. Past recipients include Isadore R. Lenglet, 1982; John E. Merryman, 1983; Richard D. Magee, 1984; Warner E. Tobin, 1985; Daniel DiCicco, 1986; J. Merle Rife, 1987; Lorrie J. Bright, 1988; Mark J. Staszkiwicz, 1989; Anthony G. DeFurio, 1990; and Marlin E. Hartman, 1991.

University Professorship

The University Professorship was established in 1988 to recognize, reward, and encourage IUP faculty members who demonstrate outstanding records in the three areas of academic endeavor—teaching, scholarship, and service. Past recipients include Donald A. Walker, 1988-89; Leon D. VandeCreek, 1989-90; John N. Fox, 1990-91; Mary R. Jalongo, 1991-92; and John W. Kuehn, 1992-93.

Candidates for Degrees

Asterisks denote graduation with honors as follows:

 Summa Cum Laude 3.75 to 4.00

 Magna Cum Laude 3.50 to 3.74

* Cum Laude 3.25 to 3.49

August and December graduation honors are final and based upon the cumulative grade-point average after conclusion of the student's last semester.

May graduation honors are tentative and are based upon the cumulative grade-point average after conclusion of the student's next-to-last semester. Final honors for these graduates will be noted after final cumulative grade-point averages have been calculated.

Averages are determined on the basis of the following: 4=A; 3=B; 2=C.

The appearance of a name on this program is not a valid indication of graduation. The diploma of the university and an official transcript, signed and sealed by the proper officers, provide authentic testimony to the conferring of a degree.

A Diverse University, Dedicated to Its Students

When it opened in May, 1875, Indiana was a normal school with 225 students in a single building. In April, 1920, control and ownership passed to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Seven years later, by authority of the General Assembly, the State Normal School became a college, with the right to grant degrees, and the name was changed to the State Teachers College at Indiana, Pennsylvania.

In 1959, the legislature approved a change of name to Indiana State College. Rapid growth followed during the 1960s in the liberal arts and graduate programs, culminating in the achievement of university status. In December, 1965, a bill was signed in Harrisburg creating Indiana University of Pennsylvania as the commonwealth's first state-owned university.

With more than fourteen thousand students, IUP is the fifth largest university in a state that boasts more colleges and universities than nearly any other. With three campuses located in the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains, IUP is one of fourteen member institutions of the State System of Higher Education.

In forty-five academic departments located within six colleges and two schools, IUP offers more than a hundred major fields of study. Graduate programs in many professional and applied areas are available, as well as six programs at the doctoral level. IUP's internship program is the commonwealth's largest, providing students with on-the-job experience to supplement their classroom learning.

Throughout the history of IUP, the values that have shaped the institution have been of primary importance. These values have been elucidated in the following statement, adopted by the University Community Council in September, 1990:

Indiana University of Pennsylvania is dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and to teaching students how to live and how to make a living, while fostering citizenship. This institution is committed to engendering the spirit of community among its faculty, students, and staff. Programs and policies shall be formulated based on respect for culture, race, sexual lifestyle, gender, and age diversity in a manner that provides respect for excellence in human character, for intellectual dissent, and for the privacy and dignity of the individual.

It is recognized that each person has unique needs and abilities and should be valued. Likewise, each person has a role to play in the university community and should do so with excellence. In an atmosphere of mutual respect, individuals should be encouraged to perform their roles in a manner consistent with both their own interests and the interests of the community.

The fourteen state universities that today constitute the State System of Higher Education had as their original purpose the training of teachers for Pennsylvania's schools. Act 188, signed into law on November 12, 1982, created the State System of Higher Education; this July 1, the System will celebrate its tenth anniversary. Nearly one hundred thousand students attend System universities. The System's chancellor, James H. McCormick, is a member of IUP's Class of 1959.

The Symbols of Learning

Participants in the commencement procession are attired in regalia that reflects a history and heritage that can be traced to the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries. Modern academic regalia evolved from the kinds of apparel worn by monks and students in the Middle Ages to keep warm in the medieval castles and halls in which they studied.

Academic life as we know it today began in the Middle Ages, first in the church, then in the guilds. The teaching guild was the Guild of the Master of Arts, and the Bachelor was the apprentice of the Master; their dress was the outward sign of stature and responsibility. Academic regalia was thus a visible manifestation—in color and pattern and design—that unified those of common discipline and like purpose.

In later centuries, to preserve the regalia's dignity and meaning, universities set rules of academic dress. American universities agreed on a definite system in 1895 establishing a code of approved attire. In 1932 the American Council on Education revised this code, which, for the most part, governs the style of academic dress today. The principal features of academic dress are three: the gown, the cap, and the hood.

The Gown. The flowing gown dates to the twelfth century. Many think it was worn as protection against the cold of unheated buildings. It has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it completely covers any dress of rank or social standing. It is (with a few institutional exceptions) black for all degrees. Pointed sleeves indicate the bachelor's degree; long closed sleeves with a slit in the arm, the master's degree; and round open sleeves, the doctor's degree. The gown for bachelor's or master's degrees has no trimmings; the gown for the doctorate degree is faced down the front with velvet and has three bars of velvet across the sleeves, in the color distinctive of the faculty or discipline to which the degree pertains.

The official colors of the college may also appear in the gown or its decorations. The trustees and administrators of IUP wear gowns of slate trimmed in crimson velvet.

The Cap. The freed slave in ancient Rome won the privilege of wearing a cap, and so the academic cap is a sign of the freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity with which scholarship endows the wearer. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as square symbolizing the book, although other authorities claim that it is a mortar board, the symbol of the masons, a privileged guild. The color of the tassel on the cap denotes the discipline.

The Hood. In regalia, the hood is an inverted shield with one or more chevrons of a secondary color on the ground of the primary color of the college. The color of the facing of the hood denotes the discipline represented by the degree; the color of the lining of the hood designates the university or college from which the degree was granted.

The Mace is a ceremonial staff carried by the chief university marshal, who is the most senior faculty member. The chief university marshal opens and closes all academic convocations, such as Honors Convocation and Commencement. Artist and metalsmith Dr. Walter J. Kipp designed and constructed the mace for IUP in 1967. The design was created around the state seal, which was placed at the top of the mace. The large keystone which comes next symbolizes the state emblem, and on this keystone the letters IUP are placed. The handturned shaft is made of native Pennsylvania walnut.

The President's Medallion was designed and crafted by Dr. Kipp for the inauguration of IUP's fifteenth president. The medallion symbolizes Sutton Hall, Fisher Auditorium, and the Planetarium; an oak leaf which overlays an oval at the base of the medallion signifies the Oak Grove. The dates of the institution's founding and the attainment of state college and university status are engraved on the piece. The medallion and chain are embellished with semiprecious stones.
