WELCOME

Welcome, Families and Friends

The IUP community extends a warm welcome to the families and friends of a very distinguished graduating class. Over the past several years, the class members have worked and studied and are now ready to begin a new chapter in their lives. For some, this will mean a job and the responsibilities of a family. For others, it will mean graduate or professional school. Whatever course their future takes, the university hopes that its graduates will look back on their years here as having prepared them to meet and deal with the challenges that life will present.

In today's ceremony, more than one thousand undergraduate and graduate students are recognized for their academic achievement. The university joins parents, spouses, relatives, and friends in congratulating the graduates on their accomplishments and in wishing for them the happiness of a productive life, the respect of their fellow human beings, and the love of their families.

Best of luck and congratulations.

Welcome, Graduates, to the IUP Alumni Association

THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER

O Say! Can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night, that our flag was still there.

O, say, does that Star-Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

ALMA MATER

To our noble Alma Mater's name
We, her children, sing a joyful lay
And to her a new allegiance pledge,
That lives beyond a day.

Refrain: Sing, O Sing, Our Alma Mater's praise,
Hail, O Hail, her colors' gleaming hue!
Give to her our homage and our love
And to her name be true.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT KARLIN ROTH TONER

Karlin Roth Toner is honored today for her aviation and aeronautics expertise and notable career with the federal government. She is currently employed by the Federal Aviation Administration and serves as director of the Joint Planning and Development Office, where she oversees an interagency initiative that is developing the Next Generation Air Transportation System (NextGen). She also serves as senior advisor to the Secretary for NextGen Coordination within the U.S. Department of Transportation.

In 1983, Dr. Toner earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Applied Mathematics with a minor in Computer Science from IUP. She also holds a Master of Science degree and a doctorate, both in Aerospace Engineering, from the University of Florida.

Dr. Toner has more than twenty years' experience with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. From 1988 to 2006, she held a variety of leadership positions at the NASA Ames Research Center, ultimately serving as associate director for Aeronautics. In this position, she led more than 180 employees and managed a $150-million budget. She and her team developed long-range technical and resources plans for aeronautics projects, the scope of which included airspace systems, aviation safety, wind tunnels, and flight vehicle research.

Dr. Toner became director of the Airspace Systems Program at NASA Headquarters in 2006. As program director, she supported and worked with the associate administrator for Aeronautics Research to provide executive leadership, strategic direction, and program management for all elements of the Airspace Systems Program.

A much-sought-after researcher and lecturer, Dr. Toner has written technical papers on aircraft aerodynamics and design, computational physics, and the analysis of air traffic systems. She earned a NASA Exceptional Achievement Medal and is an associate fellow of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics. In April, she was honored by the IUP Alumni Association as a 2011 Distinguished Alumna.

Dr. Toner lives with her husband, Richard, outside Washington, D.C.

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT WERNER

To the Degree Recipients,

Today may not seem nearly as important to you as it does to the family members and friends who have come to watch you graduate. You may even wonder why you have to go through this ceremony—after you've spent years working on the degree you're receiving. Wasn't that enough?

This Commencement ceremony puts the finishing touch on your IUP experience. It marks a passage and recognizes your success. Celebrating your graduation is like celebrating your birthday: Just as you move from one age to the next, today you move from one phase of your life to the next.

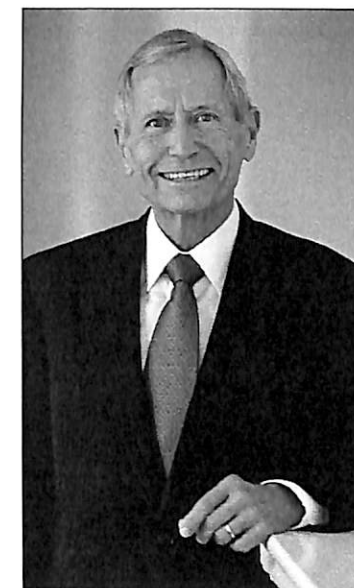

You'll be surprised at what you'll take along with you. Some things you think you'll always remember, you may soon forget. What will stay in your memory longest may be a particular faculty member. Years from now, you may still recall a lecture that person gave or a comment he or she wrote on one of your papers.

I can predict these memories with confidence, not just because I've been where you are today, but because I read alumni magazines. I see the letters and reminiscences that graduates contribute. Sometimes, they refer in detail to lectures that were given fifty or sixty years ago. Imagine!

Even though you may have absorbed the contents of myriad textbooks or performed any number of laboratory experiments, it is the human interaction you'll likely carry with you—perhaps as long as you live. While faculty members have been teaching you their subjects, they've also been teaching you how to look at the world. "A teacher affects eternity," Henry Adams wrote, "he can never tell where his influence stops."

Congratulations on your achievement. Enjoy today, and enjoy your memories.

David Werner
Interim President

David J. Werner is the interim president of IUP. He began serving in the role August 1, 2010.

Werner is chancellor emeritus and professor emeritus of the 13,300-student Southern Illinois University Edwardsville. Before his seven-year tenure as chancellor, he served as the institution's provost for a decade and dean of its School of Business for twelve years.

After his retirement as chancellor, he spent a semester as a visiting researcher in human resources and public policy development at Ryukoku University in Kyoto, Japan. During 2005–2006, he served as interim president of Mansfield University of Pennsylvania and in 2007–2008 as interim provost of IUP.

He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Engineering from St. Louis University and both a Master of Science degree and Ph.D. in Industrial Engineering and Management Science from Northwestern University.

DISTINGUISHED FACULTY AWARDS

DISTINGUISHED FACULTY AWARD FOR TEACHING

Lynne B. Alvine

Lynne Alvine is being recognized with the Distinguished Faculty Award for Teaching, which is awarded by the University Senate to one faculty member each year.

Dr. Alvine is a dedicated teacher and mentor for both secondary English teacher candidates and in-service secondary English teachers. She regularly teaches undergraduate and graduate courses in English and English education, including Adolescent Literature, Speech and Communication in Secondary English, Shakespeare, Research on Teaching Literature and Literacy, and Teaching Writing.

Dr. Alvine also teaches Liberal Studies English courses and serves as mentor to English Teaching Associates. Her student evaluations are outstanding. Dr. Alvine's reputation as a teacher and her expertise in secondary English assessment and pedagogy are recognized both here at IUP and throughout the state.

DISTINGUISHED FACULTY AWARD FOR RESEARCH

John F. Sitton

John Sitton joined the IUP Political Science Department in 1987, becoming a full professor in 1996 and chairperson of the department in 2008. Despite his many other responsibilities, Dr. Sitton has continued a full range of scholarly activity, centering around Marxist theory and contemporary reinterpretations of Marx. In 2010, his anthology entitled Marx Today: Selected Works and Recent Debates was published.

Intended for the classroom, the book includes several short works by Marx, commentaries, and introductory material. In the words of a colleague, Dr. Sitton's introduction to this volume demonstrates that he "not only knows Marx and Engels very well; he also has a sweeping grasp of political economy overall, from Aristotle to Locke and Ricardo, to contemporary political economy literatures and debates... He provides a valuable service to faculty who would like to teach Marx and Marxism but are concerned about their students' ability to grasp the material. His 'Introduction' is a clear and succinct summary of the main themes, along with timely analysis of its significance for contemporary readers."

Dr. Sitton's book Habermas and Contemporary Society (originally published in 2003) was translated into Spanish in 2006 and was chosen for translation into Korean last year. This book reviews the political and social thought of a complex, contemporary social theorist. Also in 2010, Professor Sitton coauthored a paper, "Abrogation of the Social Contract? Blackwater and the Modern State," with Dr. Max Fiddner; the paper was presented at the 2008 International Global Studies Conference in Ljubljana, Slovenia. Finally, Dr. Sitton enjoys various forms of scholarly mentoring—especially serving as manuscript referee and writing book reviews for a variety of national and international journals.

DISTINGUISHED FACULTY AWARDS

DISTINGUISHED FACULTY AWARD FOR SERVICE

Janet E. Goebel

Janet Goebel is being recognized with the Distinguished Faculty Award for Service, which is awarded by the University Senate to one faculty member each year. Dr. Goebel is the Robert E. Cook Honors College founding director and educator. In this role, she has responsibility for interdisciplinary curriculum, marketing and recruitment of honors students (including publications and website management), administering August orientations for new students, remodeling and managing an honors residential-academic facility, working with a major donor, maintaining relationships with honors alumni, fundraising with alumni, and implementing a customized CRM for recruitment-to-alumni data.

Dr. Goebel must of necessity work with many campus constituencies. In addition to her service, she is also a mentor to students who aids their applications for major scholarships and fellowships. She also partners with the Indiana community to place students in meaningful volunteer experiences, helps to place honors students in internships, promotes study abroad, and works extensively with seniors of various majors as they apply to graduate and professional schools. She has also served on the Provost's Academic Council and as a member of the International Advisory Board and the Lively Arts Advisory Board, to name but a few of her other service activities.

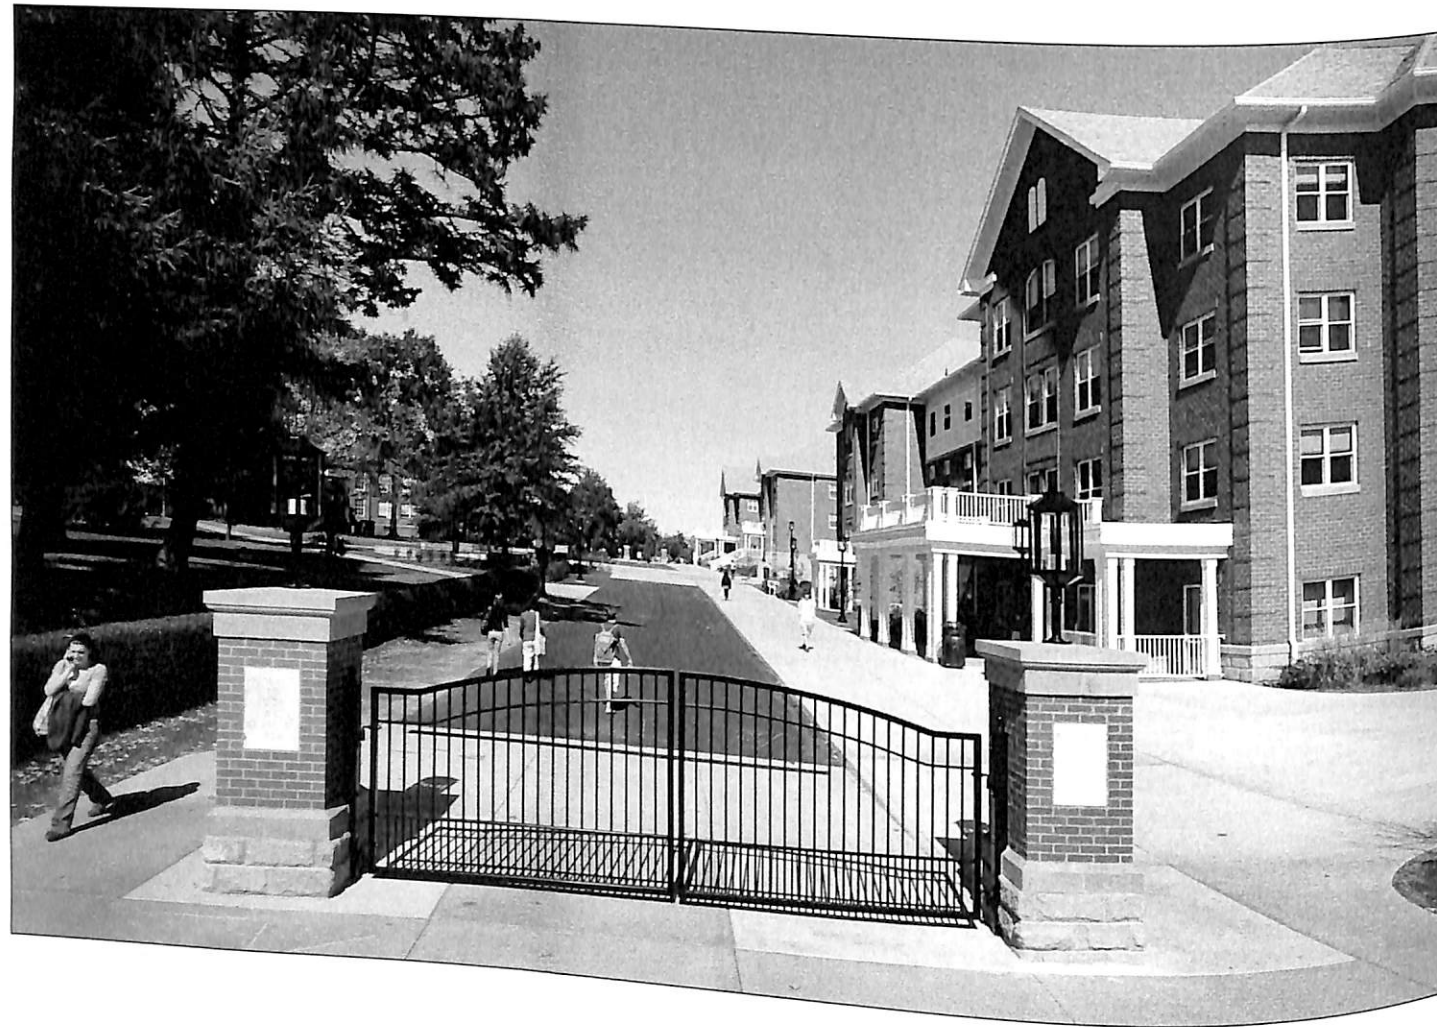

DISTINGUISHED FACULTY AWARD FOR CREATIVE ARTS

Barbara A. Blackledge

Professor Barbara Blackledge's award for excellence in Creative Arts recognizes her as an example of what many faculty members strive for—integrating her capacity as a teacher-scholar into the cultural and scholarly life of the university. Professor Blackledge's scholarship is theater, where she excels as an artist. She has given many years of service to IUP, among them nearly a decade as chair of IUP's Department of Theater and Dance. This award recognizes her recent activity. Drawing her service chapter to a close, she began with new vigor her next chapter—one of artful creativity as an actor and director.

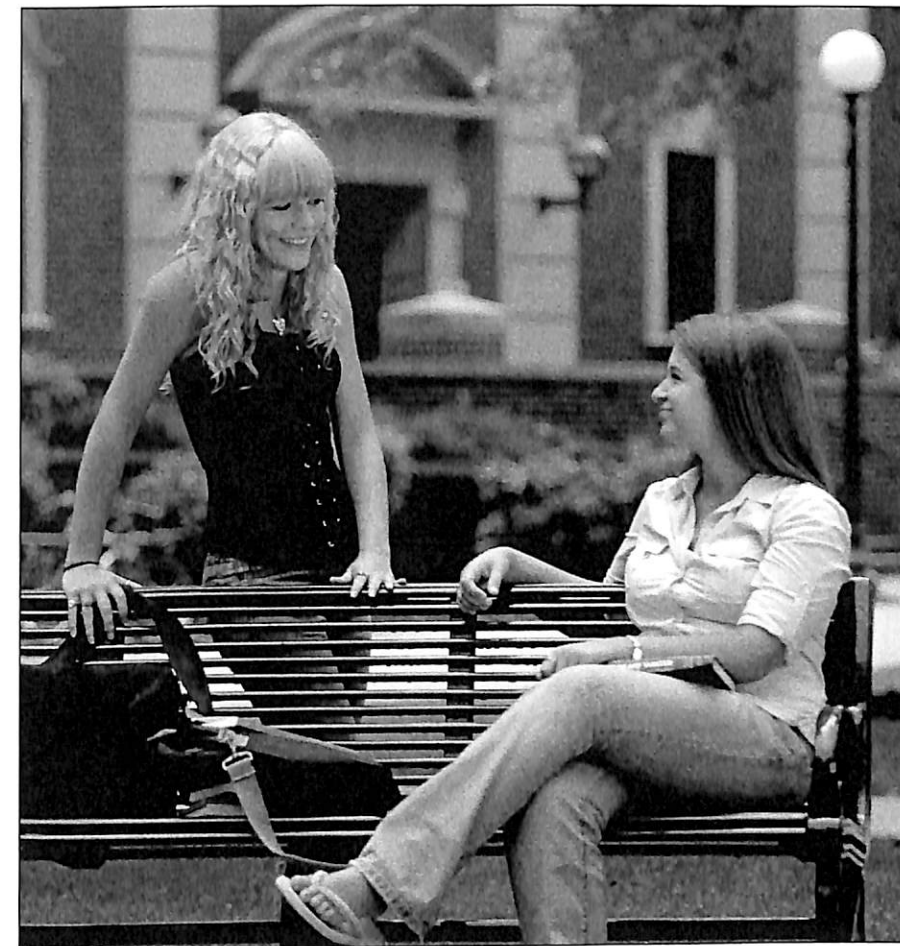

In 2007, Ms. Blackledge won the prestigious Actors Studio Workshop honor awarded by the Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival. She was selected as the singular representative from an eight-state region, joining seven other faculty members from across the nation at a three-week workshop for professional actors at the Actors Center in New York City. Among her recent roles, she was cast in the Electric Theater Company's production of Kris Kringle's Window, a first production of a new script by nationally heralded playwright Mark Medoff. Because of this and other successes, in 2009, Ms. Blackledge was invited to join the Electric Theater Company as a member of its resident company while she was on sabbatical. The residency included her tour de force, one-woman show, playing the iconic role of Ann Landers, The Lady With All The Answers, at a dramatic and difficult moment in the advice columnist's life.

Indiana University of Pennsylvania was established in 1875 and is the largest and only doctoral research university in the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education. IUP has a long tradition of academic excellence and receives frequent accolades, including designation as one of The Best 373 Colleges in the 2011 edition of a Princeton Review book by that name. The university provides an intellectually challenging experience to fifteen thousand students at three campuses, all easily accessible from Pittsburgh and the Middle Atlantic region.

Academic offerings include more than one hundred thirty undergraduate programs with a variety of internship and study abroad programs, more than fifty master's degree programs, and ten doctoral degrees. Unusual opportunities for research at all levels and the Robert E. Cook Honors College provide special challenges for academic growth. The variety and quality of instruction are characteristic of a big university, yet at IUP, close, one-to-one relationships develop within the teaching framework, and a strong sense of community prevails.

LATIN HONORS

Asterisks denote Latin honors for first-time bachelor degree candidates as follows:

-  Summa Cum Laude 3.75 to 4.00
-  Magna Cum Laude 3.50 to 3.74
- * Cum Laude 3.25 to 3.49

Asterisks denote non-Latin honors for associate degree candidates as follows:

-  With Highest Honor 3.75 to 4.00
-  With High Honor 3.50 to 3.74
- * With Honor 3.25 to 3.49

Graduation honors are tentative and are based upon the cumulative grade-point average after conclusion of the student's next-to-last semester. Final honors for these graduates will be noted after final cumulative grade-point averages have been calculated.

Averages are determined on the basis of the following: 4=A; 3=B; 2=C.

The appearance of a name on this program is not a valid indication of graduation. The diploma of the university and an official transcript, signed and sealed by the proper officers, provide authentic testimony to the conferring of a degree.

GOVERNING AND ADVISORY BOARDS

THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE SYSTEM OF HIGHER EDUCATION

Since its creation on July 1, 1983, the State System of Higher Education has developed a reputation for service, achievement, and vision. Strong student demand for the academic offerings at the fourteen public universities in the State System is evidenced by the growth in head count enrollment to a record 120,000 for 2010-2011. The State System universities are working to fulfill their potential as one of the largest human resource development infrastructures in the commonwealth.

THE SYMBOLS OF LEARNING

Participants in the commencement procession are attired in regalia that reflects a history and heritage that can be traced to the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries. Modern academic regalia evolved from the kinds of apparel worn by monks and students in the Middle Ages to keep warm in the medieval castles and halls in which they studied.

Academic life as we know it today began in the Middle Ages, first in the church, then in the guilds. The teaching guild was the Guild of the Master of Arts, and the Bachelor was the apprentice of the Master; their dress was the outward sign of stature and responsibility. Academic regalia was thus a visible manifestation—in color and pattern and design—that unified those of common discipline and like purpose.

In later centuries, to preserve the regalia's dignity and meaning, universities set rules of academic dress. American universities agreed on a definite system in 1895 establishing a code of approved attire. In 1932 the American Council on Education revised this code, which, for the most part, governs the style of academic dress today. The principal features of academic dress are three: the gown, the cap, and the hood.

The Gown. The flowing gown dates to the twelfth century. Many think it was worn as protection against the cold of unheated buildings. It has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it completely covers any dress of rank or social standing. It is (with a few long, closed sleeves with a slit in the arm, the master's degree; and round, open sleeves, the doctor's degree. The gown for bachelor's or master's degrees has no trimmings; the gown for the doctorate degree is faced down the front with velvet and has three bars of velvet across the sleeves, in the color distinctive of the faculty or discipline in which the degree pertains.

The official colors of the college may also appear in the gown or its decorations. The trustees and some administrators of IUP wear gowns of slate trimmed in crimson velvet.

The Cap. The freed slave in ancient Rome won the privilege of wearing a cap, and so the academic cap is a sign of the freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity with which scholarship endows the wearer. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as square, symbolizing the book, although other authorities claim that it is a mortar board, the symbol of the masons, a privileged guild. At the baccalaureate level the color of the tassel on the cap denotes the discipline. The tassel is moved from the right side of the cap to the left side upon conferral of the degree.

The Hood. In regalia, the hood is an inverted shield with one or more chevrons of a secondary color on the ground of the primary color of the college. The color of the facing of the hood denotes the discipline represented by the degree; the color of the lining of the hood designates the university or college from which the degree was granted.

The Mace is a ceremonial staff carried by the chief university marshal, who is the most senior faculty member. The chief university marshal opens and closes all academic convocations, such as Honors Convocation and Commencement. Artist and metalsmith Walter J. Kipp designed and constructed the mace for IUP in 1967. The design was created around the state seal, which was placed at the top of the mace. The large keystone which comes next symbolizes the state emblem, and on this keystone the letters IUP are placed. The handturned shaft is made of native Pennsylvania walnut.

The President's Medallion is worn by the president of Indiana University of Pennsylvania during academic convocations as a symbol of the leadership responsibilities vested in that office. The previous medallion, designed and created by professor emeritus Robert W. Hamilton, featured the university seal in a jeweled setting. Professor Hamilton fabricated that medallion in 1998 to replace the original medallion crafted by Walter J. Kipp in 1968 for the fifteenth president, William W. Hassler. The current medallion was crafted at Wendell August Forge. President Tony Atwater was the first president to be inaugurated with the current medallion.

The Philanthropy Cord is worn as a symbol of philanthropic pride by the newest alumni who made gifts to the 2011 Senior Giving Campaign. This double-knotted gray and crimson cord symbolizes the reciprocal commitment between IUP and its alumni.

The Study Abroad Cord is a blue and green entwined cord that designates students who have participated in a one- or two-semester study abroad program during their studies at IUP. These students have studied in a wide variety of majors at universities throughout the world—and on every continent except Antarctica.

CLASS OF 1961

On May 28, 1961, and again on August 20, members of the Class of 1961 received degrees at Spring and Summer commencement ceremonies at what was then known as Indiana State College. In the two ceremonies, 517 students graduated, and 30 class members were commissioned as officers in the U.S. Army. Most were Education majors, since a Liberal Arts curriculum was just being introduced at the college.

In the years since their graduation, members of the class have led successful careers in education, in business as entrepreneurs and CEOs, and in government as special agents and private investigators. Three class members have been honored by the IUP Alumni Association as Distinguished Alumni for their sustained career achievements. Those present today to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their graduation are the following:
