

IF YOU have looked at the foregoing pictures, you have been convinced that The Indiana State Normal School has an exceptionally beautiful campus and a fine group of buildings for its different needs. So far, you have seen only the external features of the school's plant. You are permitted, in the following pages, to look inside the school

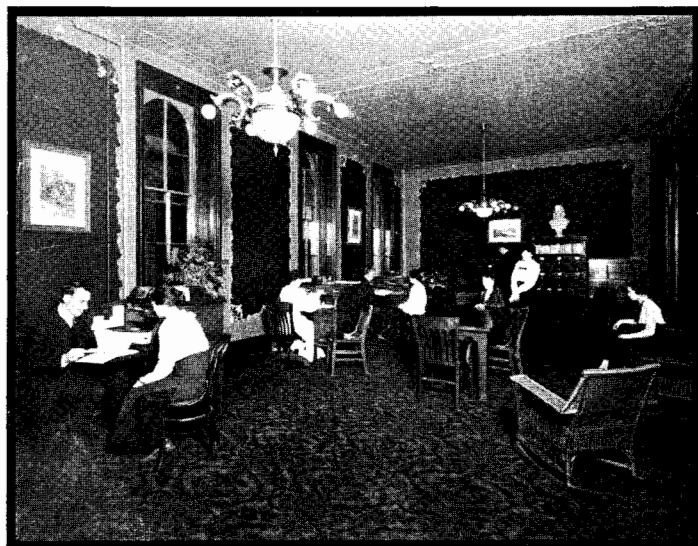

The Registrar's Office

All bills are payable in the Registrar's Office. Students' programs and records are kept here. Students deposit money here for safe-keeping and draw it on checks as they need it. This office connects with the Faculty Committee Room, the Telephone Room, the Reception Room, and the Principal's Office
